pm. Q: jQuery scrollTo in IE8 I try to use the jQuery scrollTo function in a php/jquery script, which is called by the IE8 extensions manager when a button is clicked. The problem is that it doesn't seem to work in IE8 (even not in IE7). I'm trying to scroll an html-page containing an inline php script. The code looks like this: TITLE HELLO WORLD The callback code looks like this: `$(document).ready(function() {` $("#button").click(function() { $("#body").scrollTo($("#window"), 5000); return false; }); });

The HTML-document is just a test page I have created. This code seems to be the same when I just want to have the page in the top left corner of the viewport. When I click the button, the HTML-document isn't scrollable anymore. The script produces this error in firebug:

SCROLLTOBEZER
